

January 2014: Mixed Media Newsletter

Stanly Arts Guild January Meeting and Social 6:45 PM - Thursday, January 2, 2014

If you saw the booth at our winter craft show with the gorgeous glass ornaments and the glass pendants and beads, you will be excited about our January presenter. Carl Dickinson is going to demonstrate how he makes the beads and pendants as well as his icicle ornaments. Carl is a professional glass blower. He owns and operates South Stanly Glassworks. He is going to set up his portable bench and show us how it's done. I'm sure you will find his presentation both fascinating and educational. We hope to see you all there.

We still have some "Celebrating 50 Years" Stanly Arts Guild tote bags, available for $12 while they last, so pick one up at the meeting.

Workshop Schedule

More about 2014 workshops will be coming soon.

January Display at the Agri-Civic

The Stanly Arts Guild will sponsor an exhibit of oil paintings by artist Theresa Clark at the Albemarle Agri-Civic Center. The opening is January 2, 2014. The exhibit will continue through January 31, 2014. Theresa Clark is a lifelong lover of art and its history. You may remember Theresa's artwork from our 2013 Nature at Its Best Show. She is exhibiting her landscapes and still life oils at the Agri-Civic Center. She is currently working on a series of evening landscapes exploring the "beautiful and spiritual light of the evening".

In the showcase, Julie Russell is displaying her marquetry in the showcase the month of January. Marquetry (also spelled as marqueterie) is the art of applying tiny pieces of wood veneer to the entire surface of a form in decorative patterns or designs. Julie's work is amazing.

The Agri-Civic Center hours are 8:00 AM to 5:00 PM weekdays and during events.

From the President

I hope you all visited the gallery in December. I worked several days and each one was just a buzz of people shopping. We sold a lot of art and fine crafts in December. It is doubly exciting when we can showcase so many area artist and artisans.

I am personally looking forward to this coming New Year, not only because it is inspiring spending time with other creative souls in the area, but also because I'm retiring and I hope to have more time for painting, stained glass, and jewelry design. I feel so blessed to know each and every one of you and to be a part of the activities of the Stanly Arts Guild. I want to thank you all for your interest in the guild and your help in making our mission happen. See you in the New Year.

Susan Lackey

Gallery News

1. The January 16th Art of the Vine is in need of a host/hostess. Our planned hostess has had to cancel because of unexpected circumstances. Please contact Nancy Lipe if you are interested in this one or another in the future months. These events are fun to do; the participants really love this event
2. There will be a gallery meeting on January 13 in the gallery for gallery members

Artist Opportunities

Listed here are links to area artist groups. Maybe something just for you! Take a look.

cabarrusartscouncil.org/the-galleries/gallery-tours-and-events/

Cabarrus Art Walk

Jan 31, 2014

April 4, 2014

June 20, 2014

www.tagart.org/index.php

TAG Galleries

www.randolphartsguild.com/events.html

NC Potter's Conference March 2014

Art on Sunset May 2014

www.festivalnet.com

NC Arts & Crafts Shows

www.ansonartleague.com/

Anson County Art League

www.mooreart.org/programs/visual/exhibit-your-art/

Moore County Art's Council